

In January, the band travel to The Lodge Studios at Clare, Suffolk to record their debut album The Son of Odin.

In February, the band are invited to the BBC studios to record a four song session for The Friday Rock Show hosted by Tommy Vance.

In June the debut album is released and sells well.

In September, the band shoot promotional videos featuring "The Son of Odin" and "Pandora's Box" for the "Power Cuts" video release.

The rest of the year the band tour throughout the UK promoting "The Son of Odin" album.